BIBLE CONFERENCE

TEN REASONS FOR LOVING THE SECOND COMING OF CHRIST GIVEN BY DR. FARR

Dr. F. W. Farr proved himself a logician of no mean ability as he stated, clearly and succinctly, said ten reasons at the Bible Conference at Presbyterian Church last week.

Miss Armstrong of Los Angeles rendered a beautiful solo previous to his address.

Fourth chapter of Paul's second letter to Timothy, 8th verse.

In the Old Testament there are two classes of prophetic pictures. One describing an advent of the Messiah in humiliation, in suffering and rejection. Another describing an advent of a Messiah in victory and glory and conquest. This has been such a puzzle to the Jews that some of the Rabbis think they have solved it by saying there are two Messiahs, Rabbi Ben Joseph and Rabbi Ben David. But our solution is different. We believe both of these prophetic pictures to be culminated in one person but at different times in His career. Suffering belonged to His first advent, and all those things relative to his conquest belong to his second advent, and thus all contradiction disappears.

When he came the first time the Jews were looking for his coronation, and because He did not seem to fulfill their expectation, they rejected Him. The church for a long time has been looking at His humiliation.

She stands a very good chance of seeing Him just like the Jews by confining her thought to only one class of passages and demanding their attention or none. But all are Messianic. All have been fulfilled as to his first advent. Those to be fulfilled pertain to the second coming. We love the first because it is the foundation of our faith. We ought to love the second because it is the consummation of the first. Salvation is past, present and future. We can say with perfect truth, I have been saved, I am now being saved, I shall be saved by and by. It is a past fact, present possession, future attainment. But the great work of salvation shall not have been finished until He comes, and that is why the second coming should enlist our attention. There are a great many well-meaning but untaught people who say I am thankful for a full and a free salvation now. I love them, they mean all right but their FULL salvation will not be accomplished until He reigns. In fact no one who believes the Bible can reject the second coming.

But again there are some people who believe their Bible and therefore believe in the second coming. They do not love it but fear it. They identify it with causes of calamity, of catastrophe. They hope that the dear Lord will put off his second coming just as long as possible. Still others say, if His second coming means an end to the opportunity of the unsaved, how can we help asking that He stay away a little longer until a few more sinners are saved.

"E'en so, Lord, come quickly. Amen." If there is not a great cordial Amen to that Amen there is something wrong either in your heart or your head and you should rectify it. I shall have little more than time to enunciate a few of the reasons why we should love it.

1. We ought to love it because God loves it. Because of the large place he occupies with it in His word. "Out of the abundance of the heart, the mouth speaketh." If that is true of us it is not a fair inference that the things God speaks the most about He thinks most about. Tell me what themes men most want to hear about, and what many ministers preach about. Some speakers want to strike a popular (so-called) note. But we should not care what men think, but what God says. There is little about the ordinances in the Word, little said about baptism, and the Lords' supper mentioned but a few times; but the Lord's second coming is referred to more than 300 times. This picture in our mind should be greatest. No other doctrine so often spoken of because of the large place it holds.

2. Again, we ought to love it because it purifies the life as no other doctrine. In almost every Bible Conference I have ever attended I have met men who say that their acceptance of this great truth was tantamount to a second conversion. A gentleman told me in a Conference once that he had been a member of the church for 25 years; he attended church regularly, but he practiced all those worldly practices common to worldly Christians. But when mine eyes were turned to see the second coming of Christ all my worldly practices dropped away and there was a greater change in my life than when I was converted the first time. MEN'S PAY FOR WOMEN WORKERS

CONGRESS IS PLANNING LEGISLATION TO PROTECT WOMEN WHO MUST TAKE MEN'S JOBS DURING WAR

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, May 31.—Men's pay for women's work during the war is the demand of women's organizations throughout the United States. Ethel M. Schmidt, head of the National Woman's Suffrage league, stated to-day that women all over the country will insist on the same pay as men and will protest against any lengthening of hours. The United Cigar stores have agreed to pay women whom they may employ the same as men. The Baltimore & Ohio railroad has agreed to substitute women for men wherever possible at the same rate of pay. Congress recognizes the influx of women workers in American industries and is planning protective legislation.

MEMORIAL ADDRESS

BY ATTORNEY DWIGHT STEPHENSON AT FOREST LAWN MEMORIAL PARK

It affords me great pleasure to be able to appear before you to-day. I have long entertained a secret desire to address the Grand Army of the Republic. But when the opportunity was finally offered me, there arose in my mind an understanding of the presumption of the thing I had undertaken. What was there that I might say to you? What message might I, whose temples are yet untouched by the frosts of time, be able to carry to you, who were engaged in the throes of a nation-stirring conflict a full generation before I was born?

And in answer to all these things there dawned upon me a knowledge of the reasons why I so desired to stand among you and look into your faces—a purely selfish reason. Not on account of anything of great value which I might say to you, but because of the certain inspiration which I should derive therefrom.

We have come together upon an occasion which is becoming increasingly sacred to us, and it is only fitting that I should dwell a moment upon the sentiments which call us forth year after year to deck with flags and garlands of flowers the graves of comrades who have passed into the great beyond. It is not merely a token of memory. We are moved to do this thing by the same emotions which prompted the pagan of old time to place his offering upon the altar of the temple to his god—the reverence to a Great Idea. To my mind the spirit of '61 is too infinite to be expressed in mere words. Briefly, it burned in the hearts of men that a bonded, shackled people might be free. And the flame so kindled has spread throughout the whole western world. That spirit has become immortalized, though the greater number of those who evolved it lie to-day beneath the flowers of spring. There can be no freedom without equality. Men of the Grand Army, you have made all men both free and equal, and as you have immortalized this spirit, I feel in my heart that you have immortalized your band also, so that it will never be mustered out. Countless legions have marched on out of sight until there remains a rear guard of you, awaiting orders to go into the final and lasting encampment. There shall you be met by the Supreme Commander who shall fasten the emblem of highest merit upon your uniform and say "Well done, true and faithful servant. Enter into your reward."

Now, as your lives are rounding into artistic completeness, we find the world rocked by the passions of the most destructive war of all ages. As you fought in the prime of your youth to make this nation a real democracy for all its people, so is the young manhood of to-day fighting to make the whole world safe for democracy. He have at last been forced into this war. We have been very patient. We have taken up the gage of battle which has been flung at our feet, and, by so doing, have incurred a vast responsibility. Upon the valor of our manhood and the wealth of our broad acres rests the destiny of mankind.

It is in realization of this and in the knowledge of your valor of fifty years ago that I appeal to you to-day. Men of the Grand Army, counsel with us. Across the space of more than half a century give us freely of the spirit of '61. Steel our arms in this generation as yours were steelled so long ago, that the starry flag which has never known the humiliation of defeat, may be ever flying in a righteous cause. Out of the fullness of your years and the ripeness of your judgment, teach us the destiny of our republic, belief in its infallibility, reliance in its leaders. Lead us to remember that in a republican form of government, there rises a great standard bearer to meet each great emergency. Washington in 1776, Lincoln in 1861—and when the mists of partisanship shall have cleared away, lead us to trust and to believe that the man now in the White House will rise to the full heights of this great hour.

Lead us to believe that the great experiment of democracy born in '76, clarified and perpetuated in '61, may, through the medium of the stars and stripes, deliver the whole world from the thrall of autocracy in 1917. That out of the shambles and the blood-reek, up from the ashes of the burnt-out thrones of Europe will arise the phoenix of governments of the people, for the people and by the people, a fit comrade for the free-born American Eagle so long without a mate. That as you gave so freely of your life-blood so fully to free a race from bondage, God give us the courage to do likewise in be-

AT THE HIGH SCHOOL

REPRESENTATIVES OF G. A. R. POST APPEAR AT PATRIOTIC ASSEMBLY

Tuesday morning at 11:15 the entire fifth period was turned over as an assembly, the purpose of which was to pay tribute to the nation's veterans, who have fought and died for their country, and also to those old soldiers who still are living. The first number on the program, which was a selection by the orchestra, in which a clever medley of old-fashioned and patriotic renditions was most excellently rendered by Mrs. Gibson's proteges. This was one of the best showings ever made by the orchestra, and the audience heartily applauded the young musicians for their efforts. The entire audience then sang two verses of the "The Star Spangled Banner," being led by Mrs. Gibson, after which Fred Dodge, who is the school's yell leader, led the students in the enthusiastic ceremony of pledging their allegiance to Old Glory.

Mrs. Houdyshel, representing the Women's Relief Corps, N. P. Banks, then made a brief patriotic address, especially urging the students to attend the memorial services yesterday at the local cemeteries. Services were to be conducted at 10:30 at the Grand View (Burbank) cemetery, and at the Forest Lawn (Tropic) cemetery at 2:30.

The speaker of the day was supposed to have been Dr. Gibbons, and as he had not yet arrived at the meeting, Mr. Moyses gave a short talk, emphasizing the fact that high school students should pay tribute to the old soldiers on Memorial day by marching out to one of the cemeteries. Upon Mr. Gibbons' continued absence Mr. Moyses then introduced Rev. J. H. Henry to take his place. Rev. Henry first sang the song "The Old Copper Button" to the tune of "The Old Oaken Bucket," after which he made a short, but very interesting patriotic address. His subject was "Days of '76 and '61-65," and he succeeded wonderfully in stimulating patriotism in his enthusiastic young audience.

HONOR TO WHOM HONOR IS DUE

In this manner and through this medium of our press I wish to heartily thank all who took part in our Memorial Sunday and Decoration Day program, helping to make the services the splendid success of which we, as N. P. Banks Post, G. A. R., are very proud. Especially do I wish to thank Mrs. Winona Crawford, chairman of the Executive Committee, W. R. C., who with untiring energy and loving patriotism left no stone unturned to make our efforts a complete success.

MUSIC SECTION

Owing to the fact that Mrs. Ethel Graham-Lynde was unable to be present last Friday, the Music Section of the Tuesday afternoon club will meet Friday afternoon of this week at 2 o'clock at the home of the curator, Mrs. Kinney. Every member is urged to be present as business matters of importance are to be considered.

GARDEN SOCIETY BOOTH

The efforts made by members of the Glendale Garden Society on Saturday to raise money for the erection of a central juvenile vegetable market met with fair success. Having paid for the handsome Soldier of the Soil sign, and for other necessary expenses, the sum of $10 remains to be used as portion of the money needed for lumber and awning.

Mrs. Ella Richardson proved the champion seller of Soldier of the Soil buttons. To Mrs. Richardson is due credit for the amount of greenery and wild flowers used so effectively in the decoration scheme. Mrs. R. McQuivy came as early as eight o'clock in the morning and worked hard, as also did Mrs. Ella Richardson, Mrs. H. C. Ackley and others. Those friends who kindly took charge of the booth in turn were Mrs. I. Culp, Mrs. Frank Thomas, Mrs. Francis Henry, Mrs. G. W. Henderson, Mrs. James Pearson, Mrs. Edward Malley and others. Phillips Henderson acted as human megaphone. In the afternoon the following gentlemen actively assisted the ladies: J. H. Woods, G. W. Henderson, Edward Malley, Francis Henry.

GLENDALE, CALIFORNIA, THURSDAY, MAY 31, 1917

FORESTRY REGIMENT TO BE ORGANIZED

A "forestry regiment," made up of foresters, practical woodsmen, loggers, portable saw-mill operators, and others experienced in lumbering operations, for service in France, will, it is announced, be raised immediately. The Forest Service, at the request of the War Department, will prepare plans for the organization and equipment of the force and will aid in securing suitable men. The regiment will form a unit of the Engineer Corps now being recruited to be sent abroad as soon as it can be organized and equipped.

The organization of this regiment is the result of a suggestion made by the British Commission. Similar forces have been raised in Canada and are rendering valuable services. The object of the American forestry regiment, it is said, will be to convert available timber into material suitable for bridges, railroads, trenches, and other construction work with the least possible waste. At the same time the cutting will be done under the supervision of technical experts in co-operation with the French foresters. In this way the permanent damage to the forests incident to furnishing the imperatively needed timber, it is hoped, will be kept as small as possible.

The regiment will be organized in units capable of handling all kinds of woods work and will include a number of portable sawmill outfits. It will be officered by trained foresters and expert lumbermen who are thoroughly familiar with producing and delivering lumber. It will carry complete equipment for all kinds of woods work. The classes of men desired comprise axemen, teamsters, tie-cutters, millwrights, saw-filers, sawyers, portable sawmill men, farriers, blacksmiths, lumberjacks, cooks, and carpenters, as well as motorcycle and motor-truck operators.

As rapidly as enlistments are secured, the men will be assembled at six central points, which have already been designated.

NEW WAR-TIME INVENTION

In order that new war-time inventions which possess merit may be brought promptly to the attention of the proper authorities in Washington, the Committee on Scientific Research of the State Council of Defense has just named a special committee, to be made up of ten of the best known engineers and scientists in California, to pass upon such inventions. The new committee will be known as the Board of Engineering and Inventions. The ten men to compose the board will be chosen from among the best known members of the Pacific Coast Division of the American Society for the Advancement of Science.

According to announcement, the new inventions committee will pass upon all war-time inventions submitted to it and whenever such inventions possess merit, transmit data and recommendations regarding them to the proper bureau or department head in Washington.

FORESTRY REGIMENT FOR FRANCE

Applications for enlistment in the Forestry regiment for work in the forests of France are pouring in upon the Forest Service from lumberjacks, woodsmen, and outdoor people from all parts of the State, according to local Forest Service officers. The applications are placed on file and action will be taken as soon as the final plans for the formation of the regiment are received from Washington. To date about sixteen officers from the National Forests in California have been listed for commissions. Trained foresters and expert lumbermen are to be in command. Axeman, tie cutters, sawyers, lumberjacks, saw filers, millwrights, portable sawmill men, teamsters, blacksmiths, cooks, motorcycle and motor truck operators will make up the rank and file. The duties of the regiment will be to aid in supplying the continuous and insistent demand for lumber for railroad and road constructions, cantonments, posts for wire entanglements, timbers for roofs of dugouts, and numerous other purposes.

A unit of woodsmen, organized by the Massachusetts Committee on Public Safety, it is said, have already been accepted by the British Government. A unit organized in Canada has for months been carrying on lumbering operations in the Thames Valley, England, on the border of Windsor Great Park in the forests of oak, pine, chestnut, fir, and spruce. Units organized from the British Forest Service in India, it is said, have for some time been doing similar duty in France.

The San Francisco police department has subscribed a total of $12,950 to the Liberty bond issue. Notable subscriptions include Chief White $500, Captain O'Brien $250, southern station staff $3000, Central station staff $2550, and large sums from the Mission, Potrero, Harbor and other stations.

RESCUE AMERICANS

NEW YORK, May 31.—Travelers arriving here report the rescue of two Americans in the crew of the Norwegian steamer Port Dione sunk May 2 by gunfire from a German submarine. None of the crew were lost.

TAKE THE LOAN

By Edward Everett Hale

(Written in May, 1861, at the outbreak of the Civil War)

Come, freemen of the land, Come meet the great demand, True heart and open hand,
Take the loan!

For the hopes the prophets saw,
For the swords your brothers draw,
For liberty and law
Take the loan!

Ye ladies of the land,
As ye love the gallant band,
Who have drawn the soldier's brand,
Take the loan!

Who would bring them what she could,
Who would give the soldier food,
Who would staunch her brother's blood,
Take the loan!

All who saw her hosts pass by,
All who joined the parting cry,
When he bade them do or die,
Take the loan!

As ye wished their triumph then,
As ye hope to meet again,
And to meet their gaze like men,
Take the loan!

Who could press the great appeal Of our ranks of serried steel, Put your shoulders to the wheel,
Take the loan!

That our prayers in truth may rise, Which we press with streaming eyes,
On the Lord of earth and skies,
Take the loan!

FOREST SERVICE AIDS IN REGISTRATION

The Forest Service is making every effort to co-operate with the State Bureau of Registration by carrying information into the remote mountain regions of the State, according to the local Forest officers. Members of the District Office and the Supervisors' offices have been detailed in a number of the mountain counties to aid county officials in charge of registration. Rangers and guards, mobilized for the approaching forest fire season, are making good use of the Forest Service telephone systems by calling up mountaineers; and in many cases the Forest officers, are riding the trails from homestead to homestead, notifying the mountaineers that June 5 is the day that all males between the ages of twenty-one and thirty, both inclusive, must register.

The importance of this information work in the mountains can only be realized, say the Forest officers, by those who know that many families in the more remote mountainous regions of the State oftentimes go for weeks without getting their mail or seeing a visitor. Then, again, in some communities, much misinformation is current concerning the registration regulations. Officers on some of the National Forests are spending a large part of their time replying to questions. "Does a man whose twenty-first birthday comes on June 5 have to register?" And, "Does a man whose thirty-first birthday comes on June 5 have to register?" These are illustrative of the questions asked. (The answer to the first question is "yes"; the second "no.") All who have any doubt as to their being subject to registration are advised by the Forest Rangers to present themselves to the proper officials on June 5, since a person subject to registration who fails to register does so at his own peril. Those presenting themselves to registration officials on June 5 who are not subject to registration will be told so at that time.

Personals

Miss Eleanor Pauley, of Los Angeles, spent the day yesterday in visiting Glendale friends, having formerly lived on West Seventh St.

Mrs. Richard McGregor of San Francisco, who is doing University Extension work is in Glendale visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Colson of 1516 Burchett St.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Wilson of Hanford, Cal., came to Glendale Wednesday to spend a few days visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Wilson, and Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Learned.

Several Glendale boys of the 21st Company, Coast Artillery, took part in the big Memorial Day parade yesterday in Los Angeles. Today, however, they are quite stiff, as they marched from nine o'clock continuously until noon.

Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Preston, Miss Jeanette McLennan, and Master Shirley Preston, of 735 South Adams street, enjoyed an automobile trip yesterday through several of Glendale's surrounding cities ending up at Brookside Park in Pasadena, where they enjoyed luncheon.

The Eclectic Medical Society which closed its annual convention at Santa Barbara the first of this week, honored Dr. H. C. Smith of Glendale, by electing him president of the Society for the ensuing year. Dr. Smith has been prominently connected with this society for a number of years.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Millar and two sons, Richard and Robert, of Long Beach, yesterday spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. I. J. Phillips, of West Fifth street. In the afternoon an automobile trip was enjoyed, after which the crowd enjoyed a delicious dinner at the Phillips home. Mrs.
Millar is Mrs. Phillips' sister.

J. L. Denney of Verdugo road with his sister, Mrs. John Craig, left this afternoon via the Salt Lake for a trip East. They will make no stops at Colorado Springs and St. Joe, Mo. going on to Columbus, Ohio. Mr.
Denney expects to spend several weeks in Ohio and will visit several places of interest on his return westward.

The Glendale branch, British Ambulance Society met Monday at 2 o'clock at their headquarters. There was a good attendance and the ladies put in an afternoon of hard work.
Some special work on bandages was done. Mrs. Henry R. Harrower was the hostess for the afternoon. It was decided to serve tea at each Monday afternoon's meeting.

The Woman's Auxiliary of St.
Mark's church will hold its regular monthly meeting in the church tomorrow, Friday, June 1, at 2:30 p. m. The women of the church and congregation are earnestly requested to be present, it being the first meeting of the new year after the annual convention.

A GOOD CATCH

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Farrell of 123 E. Broadway are happy today with the joy that comes to the successful fisherman. They motored to North Manhattan, Wednesday where they are accustomed to go to fish. The water was so rough and dirty with kelp during the afternoon that they could do nothing. About sunset they cast their lines and were kept busy hauling in the fish until darkness prevented further activity. The result of the evening's catch was fourteen fish, the total weight of the catch being 30 pounds. Mr. and Mrs.
Farrell arrived home about eleven o'clock, tired from their strenuous labors but well contented with the result. Neighbors of Mr. and Mrs.
Farrell who enjoyed the delicious fresh yellow fin today will testify that these good people unlike some devotees of the piscatorial art are entirely truthful in their statements.

SPIRIT OF CO-OPERATION

Glendale, California.
My Dear Mr. Church:
I thought I would drop you a line to let you know that I was exceedingly pleased with the result of our train when at Glendale. I think your organization did some very excellent work in advertising and putting the matter before the people.
If we, the University of California, can be of service to you at any time we would be very glad indeed, to hear from you.
Again thanking you for your interest and effort, I remain, Very truly yours,
V. C. BRYANT,
Assistant Professor of Agricultural Extension.
This letter expresses formally what several of those Preparedness Train people said orally.—W. L. C.

MEMORIAL DAY

The following address was given Wednesday at the Memorial services in Grand View cemetery by Comrade C. H. Clark, of Tujunga, Cal.:

Ladies and gentlemen, neighbors, friends, comrades: Again we are met to perform a solemn and sacred duty, a duty we love to perform as it furnishes an occasion for the awakening in us of that sentiment of loyalty and patriotism, that devotion to the ideals of civil and universal liberty upon which rests the fabric of our national existence and was the impelling motive which called the noble men to arms whose memory we cherish and whose deeds of valor we honor.

Though half a century has rolled away since the close of the conflict where victory crowned their heroic efforts and re-established our national integrity and the cause of human rights and civil liberty, bought with a mighty price of hundreds of thousands of noble lives, lives sacrificed upon the altar of their country, for the preservation of a nation "conceived in liberty and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal."

That Memorial Day should be held sacred in the hearts of the surviving comrades whose numbers are rapidly diminishing as one by one they answer the last call and join the great majority, is but a fitting sequence of the comradeship which has bound us together with the strongest ties of human affection.
The celebration of this day has done much to cement more firmly the spirit of fellowship which now pervades among surviving comrades toward those who were our foes in that bitter struggle, it has served to bring us together upon a common ground and to broaden the human vision beyond the narrow horizon of territorial boundaries and selfish interests. It has served to awaken thought to the contemplation of the great fundamental truth that the ideals on which rest the "Magna Charta" of our national existence are not circumscribed by territorial boundaries but are as universal as the sunshine that gladdens the rose or the rain that refreshes the earth.

It has served to connect the present with the past and to show how the footsteps of progress have been ever onward toward the goal which inspired the brave old navigator to push out on the deep with his ship's prow toward the setting sun, that finally brought him to discover the shores of the American continent.

It was the same vision of human liberty that impelled the Pilgrim Fathers to brave the perils of the deep and to land upon an unknown and unhospitable shore inhabited only by a race of savages, there to carve out for themselves and their posterity, homes where civil and religious freedom could have free breath, leading finally to that crowning event when our fathers brought forth on this continent a new nation for the perpetuation of the same noble purpose, impelled by his divine force the ill fed and equipped continental army drove from our shores the invading army of the British King and the birth of a new nation became a living fact. Upon its declaration of independence rests to-day the greatest nation of all the world—the ideals which were but dimly visioned by the pilgrim fathers, as they have broadened and expanded in their application to human needs is rapidly leaving the world's thought, and the terrible struggle which is being waged on the European continent today is only a continuation of the same opposing forces of organized evil to stay the march of progress and which has sought to strangle the ideals of democratic government and to perpetuate autocracy and imperialism, so clearly defined has this become and the purpose to gain dominion over the whole world so clearly revealed that it has finally involved our own peace loving and religious institutions which we fought to save in the 60's, let us do a more noble service to the memory of those who gave their lives that this nation might not perish from the earth by throwing every ounce of power that we possess into the scale that shall tip the beam to the side of democracy and civil liberty throughout the world.

Let us as we cherish the memory of our noble comrades remember that eternal vigilance is the price of liberty, and that the false claim of the powers of evil can only be proven powerless when met by the maximum of good.

It is well to have faith but to make that faith effective we must suit our action to the word. Few indeed realize that we are again at war; this age has no adequate conception of what real war means, as viewed far off involving only those who are far removed from our association and homes. The present generation can form only an imperfect concept of the possibilities which lie before us in the conflict upon which we are about to enter, and in this hour that is to try men's souls with the grim realities of modern war, we who by circumstance are not called into its battle line have none the less the privilege as well as duty of performing a vital part of the campaign that shall insure the victory.

It is to us that must fall the burden of providing the sinews of war.
To the organized forces at home belongs the loyal and hearty co-operation in strict obedience to the military and civil authorities upon whom rests the responsibility of successfully prosecuting the struggle. Not alone is the enemy with which we must contend, to be found across the ocean or upon it, or beneath its surface, nor yet in the air above. A less obvious but none the less effective enemy of the ideals which we cherish may be found in those elements in our own midst which will seek to exploit the occasion for the purpose of personal gain. True patriotism and loyalty should inspire all to a willingness to make such sacrifice of personal interest as shall work as few hardships as possible. Let us seek to promote social and political purity in our own communities. Let us strive to rid ourselves of those things which we have tolerated that lower the standard of moral purity and the ideals of civic righteousness.

We are gathered here to-day in consequence of the civil war which was brought on by an institution which was fostered in a portion of our country and tolerated by the government; an institution which corrupted the life blood of the nation, lowered the standard of its ideals, and set at naught the fundamental law of universal liberty.

If our nation is to long endure as a government of the people, by the people and for the people, we must establish in the lives of the people a greater devotion to civic righteousness and moral purity. Those conditions which are incidental to an age of unprecedented prosperity, the centralization of great wealth on one hand and extreme poverty on the other, are a menace to the national life, and it is possible that the lesson which we are to learn through the experience of this war are needed to bring us to a clearer realization of some of the tendencies of our social system and to a correction of the errors, and the bringing into being through a new birth, a nation that shall be truly Christian in fact as well as in name.

DEATH OF MRS. BLYTH

Mrs. George H. Blyth passed away at Thornycroft hospital, May 30, 1917 at 1:10 a. m., after a lingering illness of several years duration.
Mrs. Blyth was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Grumbling, 923 Damasco Court, Glendale. She was married at Newton, Kansas, September 11, 1907 and came to California in 1909. Mr. Blyth is employed by the Pacific Electric company in the traffic department.

Besides her husband Mrs. Blyth is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Grumbling, two sisters and one brother, Robert M. Grumbling of Glendale, Mrs. John M. Lander of Newton, Kansas and Mrs.
Clyde M. Sudlow of Butte, Mont.

Mrs. Blyth was only thirty years of age. She was a talented musician and was very popular in musical circles in Newton where she was soloist and leader of the choir of the First Baptist church. She made many friends by her happy, loving disposition and her death is sincerely mourned by a large circle of acquaintances.

Funeral services were held Thursday morning at the chapel of the Scovern-Letton-Frey Undertaking company, Rev. Don S. Ford officiating. She was laid to rest in beautiful Forest Lawn cemetery.

CAMPING TRIP

Although only for two days and one night, the camping trip enjoyed by some of the juniors and seniors of the high school over Tuesday night proved to be successful in every way. An even dozen fellows constituted the bunch of buccaneers who left Eagle Rock at about eight o'clock and arrived at their destination three hours later. They all attended the annual junior-senior picnic at Eagle Rock Tuesday afternoon, and instead of coming home with the rest of the crowd they started off on their expedition. The trip to Alta-dena was made in Allen Williams's machine, whence the young campers made the rest of the trip on foot.
Upon selecting a desirable camping spot, the boys had just started to retire when it suddenly began to rain, necessitating their seeking refuge on the porch of a nearby cabin.

Tuesday morning, after partaking of a hearty breakfast, the boys started back down the Arroyo, stopping at Brookside Park. Here they enjoyed a swim in the fresh water plunge, after which they all "piled" on the machine and made the trip back to Glendale. Those in the party were Allen Williams, Lehman Crandall, Paul Smith, William Bal-this, Adolphus McClusky, Carlton West, Miller Fishel, William Rees, Milton Brown, Walter Beach, Lyndon Keyes and Howard McGillis.

BABYLON'S ADVANTAGE

In the midst of it all, a man in Philadelphia, a professor, is calmly translating a Babylon epic. He has before him certain tablets which were buried in Mesopotamian ground thousands of years ago, upon which, in the absence of Abraham, certain queer cone-shaped characters were inscribed. Not many years ago the key to these characters were discovered, and the form of an inscription in two languages, one of which was known, and the meaning of the queer characters slowly emerged. The Philadelphia professor has discovered that the tablets bear an epic poem.
He is translating the epic and finds it to be the story of the way in which a half-barbarous chieftain, named Enkidu, was redeemed from a career of tyranny and violence by the love of a woman. And day after day, while the papers are full of woes and wickedness, and the drums of war beat on the streets, indifferent to all the uproar this patient man goes on translating into good English the poem of Enkidu and his love.

We marvel, and many even laugh, to think that in such a time as this a man would shut his ears to the war of the great world conflict and sit down and pore day after day over earthen tablets which were inscribed in the days of Abraham. But the man in Philadelphia has an answer to the laugh. He will assure us that in the epics of ancient Babylon one can find about all the news that is to be read in the papers today—news of an amiable war lord and his aggressions, news of the burning of cities and the trampling of temples, news of the deporting of conquered populations into slavery, news of the ravagings of farms and the cutting down of fruit trees, news of strange new alliances, of deep despair, of forlorn hopes. Why, even upon the site of that Babylon where the tablets which he is translating were buried, the blood of the victims of war may at this moment be filtering down upon companion tablets still unexhumed.
The weapons of war have grown greater and more terrible, but nothing in the essential substance either of war or of peace has been changed in all those years:
The folk that walked in Babylon, they talked of wind and rain, Of ladies' looks, of learned books, of merchant's loss and gain, How such-an-one loved such a maid that loved him not again, (For maidens were fair in Babylon, Babylon); Also the poor in Babylon of hunger did complain.
The difference between Ancient Babylon and modern Europe—and now America—is only a difference of clothes and of implements; and not being interested either in modern implements or in clothes, and finding the ancient weapons and garments more picturesque than howitzers or khaki, the professor who is translating the Babylonian epic sees no reason why he should turn aside from it in order to read the news of the day. As to the primal emotions, they seem to have gone backward since Abraham's time. The Enkidu of 1917, the barbarous war-lord, is apparently not susceptible to the redeeming influence of a woman's love. Europe is not staged for "heart interest." The antique potentates of Asia were extremely subject to it. Perhaps the professor is a romanticist after all.— Boston Transcript.

A minister being away on a holiday, a young deputy took over his duties.

During a long journey he had caught cold, and arrived at the village inn late on Saturday night with a huskiness that threatened to spoil his preaching powers the next morning.

After being shown to his room he suddenly decided to have a glass of hot lemonade, and rang the bell, which sounded rather undecidedly.
When the servant appeared he remarked pleasantly:
"That bell seems to be like myself —a bit hoarse."
"Aye," replied the girl, calmly,
"It's cracked."

LA CANADA

Plans are being formulated here to vigorously contest the proposed scheme to annex a portion of this valley to Pasadena. At a closely contested election Tuesday 49 votes were cast in favor of annexation, and 47 voted against the plan. But despite the result those opposed to annexation confidently believe that the scheme will not be carried out.

It is claimed that an election contest could be brought up in a number of grounds. Campaign managers for those opposed to annexation gave the following analysis to the Tri-City Progress of their reasons for opposing annexation and for planning the contest of the result.

(1) The boundary lines of the district to be annexed were drawn in such a manner as to keep two-thirds of the qualified voters from being in the district. This, it is claimed, was done by making a boundary line with 107 crooks. In several instances the lines were drawn so as to take in a barn on a property and leave out the house where the resident, opposed to annexation, resided.

(2) That certain of the election officers were guilty of misconduct in that they refused to show the roster of voters to qualified electors.

(3) That the 'purity of election' laws were violated by enthusiastic campaigners who solicited votes within ten feet of the poles. The law requires that all electioneering must be not nearer than 100 feet of the poles.

(4) That qualified voters were denied the right to vote by certain members of the election board. It is claimed that in one instance an elector asked to swear in his vote and was told there was no arrangement for such procedure.

(6) That the entire plan for annexation was put before the voters with a view to keeping the pioneers of the valley from voting and to do this the boundary line of 107 crooks was used to eliminate these residents.

Despite the claims above those favoring annexation say that the election was legal, despite the "boundary lines of 107 crooks." No uneasiness is admitted that the scheme will be defeated in the counts or by criminal prosecutions.

In the event that the proposed district is annexed, those who live in Canada will find it difficult to define his place of residence. In some instances front lots will be in the town of Pasadena and back lots will be in the country of Canada.

Many local lawyers point out that the 'line of 107 crooks' will establish a dangerous precedent. If it holds good, Pasadena could annex Glendale by drawing the boundary line so that only the pro-annexationists would be surrounded.

Those who have been pioneers in La Canada claim that another election should be called and that straight lines should be drawn so that a fair estimate of the feeling could be secured from the taxpayers and old-time residents here.

The members of the graduating class of the La Canada Grammar school extend a cordial invitation to their friends to attend the Commencement exercises to be given at the schoolhouse Friday evening, June 8, at eight o'clock. Florence Pate, president; William Winfield, secretary.

In order to raise money for the benefit of the Red Cross organization the "Busy Fingers" offered last Tuesday afternoon at the Red Cross meeting in the school house to repeat the operetta, "The Posey Bed," within the next few weeks, and charge an admission. A small percent of the proceeds would go to the "Busy Fingers" and the remainder be turned over to the Red Cross.

The plan met with general favor. A committee will probably be authorized to formulate definite arrangements.

From now on the women expect to buy their own material for bandages; consequently be financially free from the Pasadena chapter.

Mrs. Selleck, of N. School street, gave the L. C. Red Cross a bandage roller. This will relieve the women of hours of tedious work. Tuesday afternoon was spent in sewing and rolling bandages.

The First Aid Class is still under way. Mrs. T. F. Knight, Mrs. P. H. Johnson, Helen Cooper, Lillian Selleck, Mrs. Seright and Rowena and Lulu Green have signed up to take the course. It is necessary that at least ten agree to take the work. Those interested are asked to see Miss Rowena Green within the next week. As soon as ten have signed up for the class the work will begin, supervised by Miss Dorothy Dobbins of Pasadena.

Displaying rare articles from India Dr. Katherine Scott held an "Indian sale" last Tuesday afternoon.

Dr. Scott has recently returned from two years of missionary work in the orient. She picked up these pieces during her travels.

"Preparedness" will be the topic discussed by a Los Angeles speaker this Saturday night at the La Canada Improvement association. The meeting will be held in the school auditorium.

Mr. Herbert Brown, son of Mr. Andrew Brown, of La Canada, has recently joined the Ambulance corps from the University Southern California. He is now in training.

Also Mr. Edwin Cooper has enlisted in the Quarter Master's Reserve. He expects to be called any time for training.

The young people of La Canada will give a dance June 9 at La Canada hall. There will be good music and refreshments. All young people are invited.

The next meeting of the La Canada Improvement association will be held Saturday evening, June 2 in the new school. There will be an address by Frank P. Doherty, attorney of Los Angeles, who will speak on the "Liberty Loan. There will be a short prelude by the president on "Seven World Wars Now Taking Place and All These Are One." Refreshments will be served. All are cordially invited.

LA CRESCENTA

Next Tuesday's feature will be "Ben Blair," with Dustin Farnum in the title role. The story opens with Ben Blair, the boy, a quivering, terror-stricken mite of humanity, alone on the prairie, cringing with fear of a brutal father, while overhead the sky, glowing red in the reflection of his home, fast crumbling to ashes—another mark of his father's cruelty, and the grave of his only friend—his mother. Then we have Ben Blair, the man, strong, determined and resourceful, as only Dustin Farnum can depict him, a wonderful illustration of the man who fights life's battles alone, and who has the courage of his convictions.

Ben Blair is a play, unusual in its skillful contrasts of life on the prairie and on Broadway. It possesses action a plenty, a theme that will hold and thrill. The "Ben Blairs" of real life will find a marvelous counterpart in the "Ben Blair" which Dustin Farnum has created for the screen.

La Crescenta improvements are just crowding one another. Mr. Stevens' home on Montrose avenue is fast approaching completeness. Mr. Everhard, who bought half of Wm. White's acreage last year, has returned and will build immediately. Two other houses on Montrose between Shipman's and Hammond's are planned and will be under way in a few days. It is also strongly rumored that a big new house will go up shortly next to Steele's on Honolulu avenue. Mr. L. A. Potter has bought a half acre on Mayfield, but his plans are not as yet matured.

The graduation exercises of the eighth year pupils was held Thursday evening. Mr. Mark Keppel, Superintendent of Schools, was the speaker of the evening. The diplomas were presented by Mr. Bissell. The class members are Rudolph Rheinschild, Richard Starr, Dean Culberson, Andrew Peddie, Alberta Bertrand, Clara Green, Isabelle Thompson and Amanda Norberg. The prophesy was made by Dean Culberson, Alberta Bertrand read the class will and Rudolph Rheinschild delivered the valedictory.

Friday night the Improvement Society entertained the Federation of Foothill Valley Clubs. Speeches on the extension of the car line and rural credits were made. The attendance was representative of Tujunga, La Canada, Sunland and La Crescenta. Refreshments were served and a general good time for all was the consensus of opinion.

Saturday night will be the regular dance given by the Dancing Club. All the money taken in at the refreshment booth is donated to the Red Cross. Mrs. Miller and Mrs. Schultz in charge.

Red Cross classes in the making of supplies, etc., are held every Tuesday and Thursday afternoons at the school house from 1:30 to 4:30. Mrs. Claffin and Mrs. Miller as instructors.

Miss Dorothy Hunt came out for the holiday visit to Miss Marguerite Hauber's.

Mr. Booth, who years ago had the store and postoffice, is camping out at Los Angeles and Michigan avenues for a few days to renew old associations and have a good time.

Mr. Geo. W. Hall has gone to Ohio on a business trip.

The young people of La Canada will give advance on the evening of June 9 at La Canada hall. La Crescenta young people are invited. There will be good music and refreshments.

Mrs. Jinks—My husband was a confirmed smoker when I married him, but today he never smokes.

Mrs. Binks—Good! To break off a lifetime habit like that requires a strong will.

Mrs. Jinks—Well, that's what I've got!

Jimmy's mother had told him to stay near the window and watch for the bride and groom and come and tell her when he saw them coming. After waiting for some time his patience was rewarded, but he forgot to run and tell his mother. When they were quite near he suddenly remembered and called out listily: "Mamma, here comes the bride and the groom!"

is the purifying of the Blessed Hope. You will find there is no practical or ethical duty in every-day life that is not emphasized by it.

3. Again, we are to love the second coming because it is the mightiest safeguard from error. The doctrine of the Lord's coming is not only an antidote but saves us from falling onto perilous times. And church members by the thousands are being swept off their feet and swept out into the engulfing waters of unbelief and error and schisms and isms, but believers who are looking for the second coming of our Lord are saved and kept steady, and anchored, for they have the Word in their heart and it preserves them. It is even attacking the ministry, but show me an orthodox minister who believes in the deity of Christ and the verbal inspiration of the Holy Scriptures, and the Person and work of the Holy Spirit, and I will show you a man who is looking for the second coming of our Lord. But on the other hand show me a destructive critic, anywhere on earth, who does believe in the second coming, if you can. You cannot do it. As has been wisely said: "This doctrine is the touchstone of orthodoxy."

4. Once more, we must love the second coming because it is not popular. It is the last thing an apostate church wants to hear about. But it is our business to preach it. We are not to give people what they want, but what they need. Sometimes we want things we ought not to have. That any doctrine is not popular with the masses almost establishes it as from God. As Sam Jones said when asked where heaven was: "See which way the crowd is going and turn and go the other way." Jesus was with him once but when he turned and held up the Cross, away they went. They left him. Are you going to?

5. Once more, we ought to love the second coming because the Holy Spirit loves it and prays for it. We find in the Revelation, "The Spirit and the Bride say Come"; and every Commentator will say that that was a prayer addressed to an absent Christ. It was only in the last part of that chapter that He goes out to lost sinners. It first came as the cry of the Spirit and the cry of a Bride to the absent Bridegroom, and what the Holy Spirit loves and prays for, we can love and pray for, too. He prayed with groanings unutterable. Come, Lord Jesus, come quickly. And why does the Spirit desire and pray for the coming of Christ? Is He discouraged? Has He failed in the present age? Nay. He is doing all that He was sent into this world to do. But He looks eagerly for the second ascension. The earlier Christ was localized and handicapped in a thousand ways, but just as soon as He ascended into heaven he was strengthened and energized. The few whom Jesus moved among were an infinitesimal number out of the hordes that peopled the earth when he first appeared on the earth. But we read in Jonah, "It shall come to pass in the last day I will pour out my Holy Spirit, and the Holy Spirit is moving now in the hearts of men that the will of God may be realized and He be glorified."

6. And once more, we ought to love the second coming because of the rewards that Jesus brings with Him. Paul says in his swan song, "Henceforth there is a crown laid up for me." The crown is a symbol of reward. Saved, by unmerited grace. Given a crown for our works' sake. It would be an everlasting disgrace for you to walk the golden streets and see your crown on somebody else's head. But it may happen unless you work. A crown may be lost by neglect, by idleness and indifference to God's leading. I find there are seven different crowns spoken of in the Bible and every one seems to be for each particular duty. "Blessed is the man who receives a crown of righteousness," and I know of no one of the seven that can be had on any easier terms. All you have to do is to love the second advent and the crown of righteousness is yours. Not only believing it, but loving it, living it and working for it night and day. And so when Jesus comes these crowns are given and not before. And so Paul says, "Henceforth there is a crown of righteousness laid up for me, which the Lord the righteous Judge, shall give me at that day," and not me only but to all that love His appearing." And when Jesus comes these rewards will be distributed. And it is our privilege to cherish this holy and high purpose to wear this crown, and this crown awaits us if we love His appearing.

7. Again, we should love the second coming because then Christ takes the throne. The kingdom having been set up, and all that offend gathered out of the land: (1) The Lord Jesus judges first his own people, the Jews, as to their fidelity to him; (2) and then the nations on earth as to their treatment of his people in their trouble. But time does not permit a further extension of this phase. But suffice it to say the Lord will give him the throne of his father Jacob and he shall reign on his father's throne in heaven. David did not even get to heaven until after our Lord got there. He is on his Father's throne, not his own. And his right seems not that of sovereignty but privilege. So the Father has invited the Son to sit beside Him until He comes to judge His footstool. And have you never thought of the obligation on us to bring him back to make that promise good? He is the only legal, living heir. Suppose the Jews do go back and have autonomy, where is the king? There is but one with an unbroken, unblemished pedigree, Jesus Christ.

8. Once more, when Jesus comes there will be a new creation. Something is wrong with this old world. There is an occult saying that is wrong and the earth has reflected and shared the condition of its master, Man; and when man failed in the Garden, the earth failed for his sake; and when man is redeemed the earth will be glorified for his sake. I read recently a prominent naturalist said that no bird of the forest ever dies a natural death. The earth is full of the curse that rests upon it.

9. And then once more, we ought to love the second coming because it will be attended by the resurrection of the dead and we will be reunited with those long lost and loved. Then shall be brought to pass the saying, "death shall be swallowed up in victory and the resurrection." The Bible declares death to be an enemy and the last enemy to be destroyed. You may cover the coffin with flowers, but still you hate it. You hate it because it robs you of what is dearest in your home. We hate it and we ought to hate it because it is the penalty of sin. It is reigning now. There are none so sweet, so brave or strong as to escape it, but when Jesus comes, death will die, and the bodies of them that sleep be raised. The resurrection comes before the tribulation but then we, together with them, shall be caught up to meet Him in the air. This is the only panacea. You cannot comfort the broken heart beside the open grave but you can preach the Gospel. No wonder Paul says: "Comfort yourselves with this thought."

10. And the final reason, it brings us full salvation. Some one may say, do you mean we have not full salvation now? Now we know in part, and now we are saved in part. I appreciate what some dear people mean by saying they have full salvation now. But what is full salvation? When you speak of the salvation of your soul, do you mean you have full salvation? Man has a claim beyond this. He has a body and a spirit. A body without a spirit is a corpse. We talk about saving souls, but God wants to save men, and full salvation means a sanctified, clarified mind, a glorified body. I know there are some people who say they have a glorified body now, but we will not discuss them, only to say we notice we read their obituaries quite frequently. Then, when Jesus comes, these spirits of ours shall be made like Him, for we shall see Him as He is, be reunited in a glorified body, entirely subservient to the spirit, forevermore. Man, in his mental, physical, social and spiritual being, will be glorified and made into a fac simile of the Lord Jesus. Is that not worth praying, preaching, and working for with some eagerness in life?

TO STOP BAD EGG TRAFFIC

A number of egg shippers in Kansas, Nebraska, Oklahoma, and the Panhandle section of Texas have been cited to appear before the Bureau of Chemistry, United States Department of Agriculture to show cause why they are not guilty of violating the Food and Drugs Act in shipping in interstate commerce, cases of eggs containing a large number of rots and taining large number of rots and spots. The Food and Drugs Act prohibits the interstate shipment of bad eggs, which are held to be adulterated food. The action follows investigations made during 1916 at Denver, Colorado Springs, Pueblo, and Trinidad, Colo. After hearing the department will take such action as is warranted by the facts in each case. The department is also notifying egg shippers in this territory to candle all eggs before shipment in interstate commerce and is announcing that it will be glad to send them information on candling to enable them to comply with the Federal law.

The early American colonies made several attempts to grow alfalfa, but without great success. George Washington grew trial plots of alfalfa on his Virginia farm, and Thomas Jefferson gave considerable attention and care to its cultivation. Their efforts, however, proved unsatisfactory, since they did not understand all of the requirements for the successful growth of the plant.

SOLDIERS OF THE SOIL LETTER BOX

Dear Readers:—

This column, devoted to home gardening interests, appears every Wednesday. Contributions are invited. It is up to each reader to make of this department something worth while.

I will frankly state that I am not running this column with a view of becoming President of the United States, or even Controller of Food Supplies. The publicity it gives me will not induce swelled head. I doubt whether the position of editor of the Soldier of the Soil Letter Box would even procure for me the job of dog catcher to the community. My one object in conducting this department is to do my "little bit" the best way I know how. As my name does not appear, I cannot be the recipient of lemons or bouquets.

Let us have a man-to-man talk. One way of advertising Glendale is to advertise our home gardens. Will you help your city by sending in a description of your garden? Does it pay you in health, money or pleasure to grow your own vegetables? Are you supplying the family with fresh produce? Does the wife appreciate your efforts? There is something in your garden of which you are proud. Tell us about it. Spread the good news.

Yours for patriotic gardening,

EDITOR.

Editor, Soldier of the Soil Letter Box, Glendale Evening News.)

Onions

About 250 pounds of sets will plant one acre; or three pounds of seed to one acre. Why not experiment with that large golden colored mild onion known in England as the Spanish onion. Your editor has been informed on the best authority that this onion grows splendidly in California. English people stew the onions, make thick, white sauce, and use the dish as a supper course. As an adjunct to cold meat, it is almost invariably to be found on the English dinner table every Monday.

Swiss Chard

Plant plenty of Swiss Chard. It is one of the earliest greens—easy to raise, and supplies one with fresh greens the entire season. It is something like spinach, but grows quicker and is larger. It yields several crops of leaves—in fact almost perpetual if kept trimmed.

Watch For Bugs

Every grower of peas, beans, cabbages, cucumbers, melons and other plants likely to be troubled with aphids in any form should watch them care fully and give treatment at the very first appearance of the insects, says Rural World. Strong soapsuds containing one part to four hundred of 40 per cent nicotine sulphate or Black Leaf 40, is the best treatment, taking care to apply it to the under sides of the leaves in particular. Gold dust is also recommended as a splendid emulsion for plants and trees. Many Glendale folks have entirely rid themselves of green aphids on rose bushes by a timely use of Gold Dust emulsion. It is worth trying.

An Obvious Deduction

France alone will need 127,000 bushels of grain from America this year. The alcoholic liquors of the United States will consume this year fifteen hundred million bushels of grain. Enough said.

Dried Pears

Wash the fruit clean and simmer for half an hour. By that time the pears to have swollen to almost original size, but will not have softened so as to go to pieces. If you keep on stewing they will become too soft. Take the pears out; lay them in a shallow pan, stain the water back over them, sprinkle them with sugar, flavor if you wish with spice to taste and bake fifteen minutes. They will come out of the oven nicely baked, with the sugar crystallized on the surface. Serve with cream and you have a dish that everybody enjoys. Dried pears are one of the most nutritious of fruits, and at the same price per pound have a greater food value than dried apples.—(State Horticultural Bulletin.)

Red Ants and Beans

If you suspect that red ants are eating your bean plants, try smearing a stick with ant paste and sticking it into the ant's hole. (2) The following remedy is advised by an expert rancher. Make a syrup of one pint of molasses and one pint of honey. Into this syrup mix one teaspoon arsenic. Soak an old sponge or rag with this syrup and lay it on the ground under an old condensed milk can. Put half a dozen of these where the ants are the most destructive. The ants will greedily eat the poisonous mixture and bring it back to the nest, where eventually all the ants will be come poisoned.

S. S. Buttons

Buy a Soldier of the Soil button at the Chamber of Commerce. It costs but ten cents. The profit will be applied running a permanent juvenile vegetable market, where produce of all home gardens may be sold. A patriotic resident of Glendale has offered a centrally located site, but lumber and shade must be provided. Perhaps God will rain down lumber and awning over night; in which case it would be necessary to raise funds for buying these necessary adjuncts.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Whole-Wheat, or Graham Bread

1 ½ cups lukewarm milk; 3 tablespoons brown sugar; 1 ½ teaspoons salt; 3 cups whole-wheat or graham flour; ½ cake yeast.

Scald the milk, together with the sugar and salt. When lukewarm, add the yeast, mixing it first with a little of the milk. Add the flour, beat well and let it double its volume. Beat it thoroughly, put into a pan and let rise. In a pan of standard size it should come nearly to the top.

The above recipe may be used in preparing bread from home-ground meal. There are many homes, particularly in the country, where the housewife can obtain unground meal at moderate cost. If ground in the ordinary coffee mill, such wheat makes a coarse bread, not very light in texture, but of such good flavor that it may well be used occasionally to give variety to the diet. It is useful, too, in places where good bran cannot be obtained easily and where coarse breads are desired as a means of preventing constipation. In making such bread with a view to economy, the housekeeper should compute what it will cost her per loaf, including fuel and labor, as compared with other breads she makes. Skim milk instead of whole milk can be used; home-made yeast, either liquid or dry cake, is a possibility, and some might like the bread with less sugar or unsweetened. Another recipe which has been worked out follows:

Home-Ground Wheat Bread

1 ½ cups water or skim milk, 1 ¼ teaspoons salt, 1 tablespoon sugar, 3 cups home-ground wheat flour, ½ cake dry yeast, or 1 gill liquid yeast.

Set the sponge at night, using half of the flour. In the morning add the rest of the flour, beat well, put into a greased pan, allow it to rise until it doubles its bulk, and bake.

Corn-Meal and Wheat Bread

1 ½ cups milk, water or a mixture of the two; ½ cake compressed yeast, or 1 ¼ cups milk, water, or a mixture of the two; ¼ cup liquid yeast; ½ teaspoon salt; 1 tablespoon sugar; butter (if used) 1 tablespoon; 1 cup corn meal; 2 cups wheat flour.

Pour 1 ¼ cups of the water over the corn meal, salt, sugar, and fat, if used, and heat the mixture gradually to the boiling point, or nearly to it, and cook 20 minutes. This cooking can best be done in a double boiler. The water is sufficient only to soften the meal a little. Allow the meal to cool to about the temperature of the room and add the yeast, mixed with the rest of the water (¼ cupful) or the ½ cupful of liquid yeast. Mold thoroughly, let rise until it doubles its bulk, make into a loaf, place in a pan of standard size allow it to rise until it nearly fills the pan and bake 45 to 50 minutes.

Rice Bread

1 cup lukewarm water, milk or a mixture of the two; 1 cup uncooked rice; 1 ¼ teaspoons salt; 1 tablespoon sugar; butter (if used) 1 tablespoon or less; ½ cake compressed yeast; 2 cups wheat flour.

Steam the rice with one-half the liquid until it is soft. This is done better in a steamer than in a double boiler, for the liquid is so small in amount that the rice does not become soft readily and the presence of the steam helps. Put the sugar, salt, and fat (if used) into the mixing bowl and pour over them the remaining liquid (½ cupful.) When the mixture has become lukewarm add the yeast and the ½ cupful of flour. Allow the sponge to rise until very light. Add the boiled rice, which should have cooled until lukewarm, and the rest of the flour. Allow the dough to rise until it has doubled in bulk, form into a loaf, place in a pan of standard size, allow it to rise until it nearly reaches the top of the pan, and bake.

Rye Bread

1 quart milk; 2 tablespoons sugar; 4 teaspoons salt; 2 tablespoons butter; 1 cake compressed yeast; 3 cupfuls flour (one cup being wheat and the remainder rye.)

Follow the directions for making wheat bread according to the short process until after the bread has been molded the second time. At this point the dough should be placed in a 6-quart bowl lined with a cloth into which the flour has been rubbed. When the dough has risen to the top of the bowl turn out on a hot sheet iron, (a dripping pan inverted will do), over which one tablespoon of flour has been sprinkled, and put it immediately into a very hot oven. After ten minutes lower the temperature somewhat and bake for an hour. This recipe is the modification of an old German household method of making rye bread.

Rolled Oats Bread

2 cups boiling water ½ cup brown sugar; 2 teaspoons salt; 1 yeast cake; ¼ cup lukewarm water; 1 ½ cup rolled oats; 5 cups flour.

Dissolve the yeast cake in the lukewarm water. Pour the boiling water over the rolled oats, salt and sugar, and let stand until lukewarm; add the dissolved yeast and flour. Let it rise until very light. Beat thoroughly, and turn into two buttered bread pans. When the loaves have doubled their volume bake them an hour in a moderate oven.
